

Coach Network Directory

Incredible Awareness is very fortunate to have access to a global network of brilliant and talented coaches across a wide spectrum of disciplines.

Our team of highly professional, experienced and qualified coaches are recruited because they are also committed to their own professional development and hold as high a standard for themselves as we hold for them.

We set minimum benchmarks in:

- Mastery of Self – This refers to the ongoing measurable personal development of the individual coach, being more than just a “work in progress” but also demonstrating observable successes in their personal life which makes them more credible as a coach.
- Mastery of Coaching – This refers to the ongoing measurable professional development of the coach in their industry specific skill sets. Part of this may include becoming recognised for exceptional coaching talent and outcomes with clients.
- Mastery of Business – This refers to the ongoing measurable professional development of the coach as related to business leadership and management skills. This often includes achieving a level of confidence in promoting the business and themselves personally as a coach, as well as the required soft and hard skills necessary to successfully launch, manage and grow a business.
- Mastery of Industry – This refers to taking an active role in the positive development and promotion of our industry, and to engage in mentoring and supporting our fellow colleagues and related coaching organisations. We freely share information and resources to support the growth and viability of the coaching profession.

Our coaching team is led by the internationally recognised coaching leaders, Noel Posus and Sarah Hue-Williams, who inspire and drive the Incredible Awareness enterprise from Sydney, Australia and London, UK.

We would like to share with you a snapshot of the wealth of experience our team comes with. Each of the specialties and coaching modalities listed below is what we tap into in order to create exceptional coaching relationships and our outstanding resource library materials. Additionally, we share our knowledge with each other for the purpose of our own professional development as a coaching collective.

Our coaching network is growing all the time as and such it is difficult to keep an active database available in print form through a brochure such as this.

Therefore, we ask that you advise us of your specific needs, including the following information:

- o Location
- o Languages
- o The number of coaches and/or facilitators you may need
- o Special needs of participants

We are able to relatively easily provide coaches for most of the world's major languages, as well as for locations around the globe. If we don't have someone immediately available, we will search through our major industry resources partners:

- o International Coach Federation
- o International Association of Coaches
- o European Coaching Institute
- o Australian Life Coaching Society
- o Australian New Zealand Institute of Coaching
- o Life Coaching Institute of Australia
- o Coachville
- o Asia Pacific Alliance of Coaches

We look forward to hearing from you and discovering what you need, so we can begin the process of providing you a solution.
